Assumptions
Cost		Revenue
Task and Rationale:	Basis	Task and Rationale:	Basis
Maintenance Costs and Website Work: a flat fee for maintenance costs and design work ~$100 a month over the span of two years (with the understanding that it this money is not spent every month)	Flat fee covers hosting at somewhere like digital ocean, registering of a domain and potential cost of any monthly subscriptions for 3rd party tools for hosting or tracking.	Organic Traffic will take time to grow: Organic traffic for a net new site usually takes 6 - 12 months to actually grow into something that can even entertain the costs. However, sometimes it can be faster based off of other traffic channels. However, we'll set it to 6 months.	I'm currently growing my own site, have grown multiple sites from scratch and also worked with many different clients who have net new sites. 3 - 6 months without dedicated link building, social or paid campaign is usually the norm. For organic growth.
Website Work: A start-up cost for development, design and launching a website with the right tracking and analytics at roughly $5000 CAD all-in. Covers landing pages and website copy.	Based on the cost of building a sustainable SEO optimized website with 3 or more page templates, a unique design and proper tracking built in. (How much I roughly charge for a WordPress site).	Organic Traffic will not decay: I am assuming that we will not calculate that organic traffic decays over time (which it does, albeit slowly). The reason for this is other websites trying to rank for keywords you're ranking for or the Google algorithm changes. However, by paying for SEO - you should be insulated from this.	I work on many sites where they lose ranks for pages that they do not maintain over a period of time.
SEO Work: Keyword research, content calendar and SEO tweaks will cost $400 / month.	How much I charge to maintenance a content calendar and do keyword research monthly.	Organic Traffic conversion rates: I am assuming 3% conversion rate, so roughly 3 leads per 100 clicks due to organic.	Organic conversions are less efficient than paid conversions due to the volume and rankability of specific keywords. You may receive a high volume of traffic but low conversions due to the lower intent in some keywords you rank for.
Writing of articles and research: Creation of quality content for SEO ranking on Google costs roughly $250 / a post, we're looking at three posts a month for a total of $750. After 6 months of ranking, these pages will should be generating each 1 - 2 leads a month.	I write content, and pay authors to write content (and do my own keyword research). Therefore, it's easy to say that my calculations make sense. The ranking is based off of what I've seen websites can do with content frequency based on an initial push.	Paid traffic conversion rates: I am assuming 7% conversion rate for paid traffic, so roughly 7 conversions per 100 clicks due to paid.	Paid conversion are obviously higher because you can target the area and the keyword you want to rank for but you are paying to play.
Backlinking Strategy: Definitely needed in the short-term for the first year or more to get the website off the ground organically. A good backlink strategy costs roughly $500 - $1000 a month.	I spend roughly 5 hours building backlinks for my own website a month, and some of my clients spent thousands of dollars on backlinks.	Paid conversion rate social: Will use the same model and assumption as Paid traffic (since it's paid only a different medium)
AdWords: Initial set-up of the campaign is usually $500, with there being 10 - 20% of the ad spend being charged. Let's say this is $1000 a month for the first year and then scaling it to $2000 in year two.	Looking at some keywords in Vancouver , the average CPC is roughly $2 - $3. While it will be cheaper in other cities, we should expect $1 - $3 cost per click. Which means based off our ad-spend that we would receive just over ~400 - 600 clicks.	I am assuming 75% clickthrough is the highest amount of traffic you will capture per a keyword or search impression due to mis-searches, no click searches and information found.	I've never seen 100% CTR except on extremely low volume searches. Usually a high CTR for a search is between 30% - 75%.
Optional - Social Media Marketing: Potential FB marketing, LinkedIn marketing to similar spend if not a little bit pricier than Google. Will set this at NULL for year one and $500 for set-up, $500 a month in year two.	While FB Ads seemed to have work a little bit better than Google paid in the campaign I ran for micro-fit - LinkedIn actually performed better for both, but the ads were much more expensive (I was at times paying for $7.00 a click).	Direct Traffic - Will guess maybe 100 clicks a month from direct traffic and referral URLs from other sources. The conversion rate will be 4% for this.
Sales or Vendor Account Manager: You should hire someone that can deal with the vendor relationships (or you can pay yourself to do it). From my experience this is a very taxing position as not every lead that comes in is truly qualified . Therefore, some money should be allocated to this person - $500 - $1000 a month.	Experience, this is a time consuming process and there needs to be someone that liaises with the vendors and spends time talking to people who might not necessarily be sold or trust the website all that much. From my PoV, you would want to know that the person you're signing your information to is qualified to take your name, phone number and email so that you can receive a consultation for solar installation.
